

Fyodor Dostoyevsky

You must know that there is nothing higher and stronger and more wholesome for life in the future than some good memory, especially a memory of childhood, of home. People talk to you a great deal about education. But some good, sacred memory preserved from childhood – that is perhaps the best education. For if a man has only one good memory left in his heart, even that may keep him from evil....And if he carries many such memories with him into life, he is safe for the end of his days.

Source:  The Brothers Karamazov